FEED YOUR CREATIVITY, IMPROVE YOUR SKILLS, MEET YOUR PEERS.

November 2018 Newsletter

Dear Teton Photography Group Member,

November is making an entrance in white! Snow has begun to blanket the valley floor and major roads into Yellowstone National Park and Grand Teton National Park are beginning to close. There's still lots going on though as far as the Teton Photography Club is concerned.

Kicking off the month is our regular meeting on November 12 at 6pm at JHREA, 80 W Broadway, with a presentation by Jen Tennican of JenTen Productions. She will talk to the club about her experiences as a documentary filmmaker. She'll share some excerpts from her films and discuss things to consider when transitioning from shooting stills to moving images. There will be plenty of time for Q&A.

Jen has produced four award-winning long format documentaries. Her last three are all set in Jackson Hole and community is a central theme.

Check out her video samples at: <http://www.jentenproductions.com/films/>

On November 14 the Peer Mentor Program will meet at 6pm in the conference room of the Art Association. This month's theme is "Shadows."

The Peer Mentor Group is committed to developing a comfortable learning environment in which every question is respected, where everyone is at ease sharing their photographs for our critique, and where our goal is to help everyone improve their photography. If you would like to join the Peer Mentor Program or have questions, contact Randy Isaacson risaacso@iusb.edu for more information.

A note from the Chair:

As winter approaches it is time for the Teton Photography Club to start program planning for 2019. Our first step every year is to send our Members' Need Survey to better understand how the Club can better serve you, our membership. This year we will be sending two surveys. The link below is for ALL TPC members and is intended to address organizational and broad member needs. A second survey link will be circulated for LOCAL members only. The purpose of this survey is to plan local public presentations, classes, and workshops for the coming year. I hope you will respond today and us this link to share your opinions.

Please take 3 minutes, right now, to make your voice heard:

<https://survey.zohopublic.com/zs/ovCsbk>

I hope everyone is making use of our expanded TPC website. Thanks to work by Aaron Linsdau, you can now subscribe to the photography blogs that are syndicated on our site. All full members with photography blogs may syndicate to the TPC by sending your information to info@TetonPhotographyClub.org. From our home page you can “subscribe” to these blogs and receive a personal email whenever a new blog of interest to you is posted. It is a great way to keep up with what is going on with local member photographers.

The second new feature coming to the site is our “Focus on Photography” page highlighting a member photographer, location, genre of photography of interest to our members. This new page is being supported by Executive Committee member, Rachael Dunlop. If you have a series of outstanding images of interest to our members send a note with a description and short bio to info@TetonPhotographyClub.org and we will get your information to Rachael.

A third feature that is coming is our TPC members “Mini-portfolio.” All full members may submit up to 5 images reflecting your style of photography along with your name, public contact information, and link to your photography website. This feature will highlight the outstanding photography being done by our members and will help members with promotion and sale of their work. If you want to participate, send the images and information noted above to info@TetonPhotographyClub.org and we will post your information and create a link directly to your website.

These are only a few of the new reasons to visit our website. We still have our events calendar, online class and workshop registration, Peer Mentor Program, Shoot To Care, and Rocky Mountain Photo Council information, and our “Resource” pages with event summaries and links to helpful photography sites. Bookmark our page and use it often.

Looking forward to December, the regular TPC meeting will be the annual business meeting on December 10 at 6pm at the JHREA. Enjoy your November!
